UK's No. 1 for Quality, Service and Value

REGENT'S COLLEGE LONDON

Regent's College Regent's Park, London

Regent's College is one of the UK's most respected private colleges, comprising of five schools and a world-class conference centre, all within a superb central London campus.

Apex recently received a call from the Facilities Manager and we were asked to quote for a completely new two-way radio system to cover the whole of the campus.

Apex won the business and were able to supply brand new equipment with coverage to areas of the customer site which in the past they were unable to reach with their previous handportables. All of the campus staff including Security, Maintenance, Gardening and Catering now are all able to communicate over the whole college.

Scott Costello, Facilities Manager Campus Services was the representative from the College who arranged with Apex to supply the equipment. "The new system supplied by Apex works above and beyond the expectations we had for a radio system. We placed the order and were visited by a member of the Apex technical engineering team.

The whole system was installed in a morning with Apex working with our staff to set up Base Station equipment and give training on use of the handportable radios. It has been a pleasure to deal with all the Apex staff and I would certainly recommend your company to others."
